Organized by the Legal Committee of the Latin American Chamber of Commerce

Date: September 8, 2010

Venue: Club zum Rennweg
Fortunagasse 13, 8001 Zürich (www.clubzumrennweg.ch)

Time: 5:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Followed by cocktails and the opportunity for individual discussions with the speakers

Latin American countries have gained increasing interest since the beginning of the financial crisis. This applies in particular to the two largest economies, Brazil and Mexico, to which many big and smaller companies turn and should turn for their investments. Still, setting up and maintaining an investment in these countries requires sound knowledge of the differences in the legal and fiscal environment compared to European countries.

On September 8, 2010 two experienced guest speakers from Brazil and Mexico will make you familiar with the differences in these countries, especially after the crisis, and will show how to cope with them without losing interesting investment opportunities.

Subsequent to the presentations, both speakers will be available for individual meetings.

Juan Daniel Rodriguez Cardoso

Daniel Rodríguez is a partner at the Mexican Law Firm of Rodríguez Rueda, S.C. His practice area focuses in corporate and commercial law, with emphasis in mergers and acquisitions, finance law, antitrust law, foreign investment and information technology law.

Daniel obtained his law degree from the Universidad Panamericana in Mexico City (1996), and has a post graduate degree in Mercantile Law from the Escuela Libre de Derecho (1999) and a post graduate degree in Telecommunications from the Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM) (2000). During 1997 and 1998 he participated in an international associate training program with the Canadian Law Firm of Goodman, Phillips & Vineberg, practicing in Montreal and Toronto, Canada.

Daniel actively participates in the following associations: International Bar Association, International Technology Law Association, Canadian Bar Association and Mexican Bar Association.

Daniel is a marathon runner.

Ronaldo Camargo Veirano

Ronaldo Camargo Veirano is a founding partner of the Brazilian law firm Veirano Advogados and focuses his activities on corporate, commercial, banking and finance law as well as foreign investments. Throughout his legal career, he gained experience in commercial representation and distribution; arbitration, commercial, corporate, intellectual property, international law and antitrust law, mergers and acquisitions, and privatizations.

He holds a degree in Law from Faculdade de Direito of Universidade do Estado de Rio de Janeiro and from Suffolk University, Boston, Massachusetts.

He is Member of the Ordem dos Advogados do Brasil in the states of Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, Rio Grande do Sul, Distrito Federal, Pernambuco and Ceara, and Member of the Ordem dos Advogados de Portugal, the Portuguese bar association, Member of the Illinois Bar Association, Member of the Associação dos Advogados do Estado de São Paulo, Member of the Associação Brasileira de Direito de Informatica e Telecomunicação, Member of the Associação Brasileira de Franchising, and Member of the International Trademark Association (INTA).
